The committee on endowment made a report recommending that we concur in the recommendation of our worthy President, that the entire subject of endowment be relegated to the unrestricted control of the various district Grand Lodges, and, we therefore recommend in lieu of the provisions of Article V, of Part 2 of the constitution, a simple declaration be inserted therein, to the effect that the establishment of widows and orphan's endowment funds is gemane to the aims and objects of the order.

After a very lengthy discussion, in which excellent speeches were made by Mr. Singer, of Philadelphia, who spoke in favor of the adoption; Mr. Hoffman, of Philadelphia, in opposition; Mr. D'Ancona, of San Francisco, and Mr. Sawyer, of New York, and Mr. Hanberger, of Chicago, in favor, that portion of the report was unanimously adopted.

In our opinion they are not; and while we do not wish that this convention should legislate upon the endowment question we do use trecommend relying in confidence upon the loyal spirit of our membership that the following resolution be adopted:

That if any district grand lodge has decided or shall hereafter decide to make participation in the endowment optional it would be advisable to subjugate the endowment fund as a separate corporation to be managed by its contributing and participating members exclusively.

A great deal of discussion was done on this section, and it was finally agreed to refer the report back to the committee, who struck out that portion of the report.

In the third section the committee turther recommended that "The Constitution Grand Lodge, in its supreme powers, do approve, confirm and legalize the action of District Nos. 3 and 4, in having adopted graduated rates of contribution to their respective endowment funds."

Pending the discussion of this section, the hour of 1 o'clock arrived, and the Grand Lodge accepted the invitation presented by Hon. William Lovenstein from Mayor J. Taylor Ellyson to lunch. Forming in line they walked to Mayor Ellyson's home, on East Franklin street, where they were introduced by Hon. William Lovenstein. Mrs. Ellyson was also present, and aided her ain paid their respects to their graciest and hostess and left.

the special committee promulgate their plan within twelve months after the adjournment of the convention.

This being the first report that was adopted yesterday without any opposition or speech making. Mr. David Klein, who was chairman of the committee, was heartily congratulated both by the president and many of the members. He held a perfect levee for five minutes, during which time the convention had a rejoicing in receiving the well founded hope of a new ritual.

The finance committee, among other routine matters, recommended that the three recretaries employed by the convention be paid seventy-five dollars each. By a motion, the salary was fixed at seventy-five dollars for all of them, the committee striking out the word "each."

At 5:30 the convention adjourned until today.

the repast at the Exchange hotel last night given to the Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of B'nai B'rith. It was tendered by the lodges of the order of this city—Rimmon, No. 68; Benjamin, No. 69, and Paradise, No. 223—and the committee deserve credit for the excellent affair. Fair women graced the tables; gallant men were their attendants, and distinguished guests had no unimportant part in the affair. Throughout the excellent and varied menu was served with splendid taste, and all the visitors were glad of the opportunity afforded them to return their sincere thanks to their Richmond brethren.

Two long tables, running the whole length of the dining-room in the Ballard House, seated the guests and their hosts, while distinguished guests and the respondents to the toasts, set at a table at the head of the two. In the centre of this was banked a beautiful pile of flowers, while the entire length was decorated with cut glass and sliver.

CONSOLIDATION.

The special committee appointed to consider the subject of consolidation with other lewish societies presented their report. They recommended that seven members of the grand lodge for each district to appoint eit; that this commission be authorized to formulate a plan for the uniting, and that if the consolidation is effected, the commission promulgate the same to the district lodges, and that traveling expenses incurred be paid by the executive committee.

Mr. Victor Abrams spoke in opposition of the resolutions. Mr. Samuel Woolner spoke in favor of the resolutions, without amendment, were adopted by the vote: Ayes, 59; noss, 15.

THE RITUAL.

The Committee on Ritual made a report, in which they stated that the elaborate rituals are coming into disuse; that the introduction into the lodges of lengthy rituals as paraphernalia is in contradistinction to the spirit of Judaism or the demands of the order. They offered the following resolution:

That a special committee of five be appointed to draft a new ritual in conformity with the views hereimbefore expressed; that such ritual, however, shall provide but for a single rite of initiation; and that in such ritual the special committee promulgate their plan within twelve months after the additio

THE ALLIANCES.

Continuing, Mr. Massey said: "I see from your paper that the Farmers' Alliance organizations throughout the State are adopting resolutions protesting against any change in school books. I have it upon good authority that this has been promoted by personal interest in book firms sending circulars to these alliances, urging them to take this step. It is probable that a meeting of the Board will be held to-day or te-morrow, and it is safe to predict that many of the changes which would have been made, had not Tirk Times, followed by other Virginia papers, raised such a cry when it was probable that the "book trust" was to be given the contract, thereby causing a complete, and, it is urread by some a questionable change rinia to study in the schools.

Papers Commenting on the Opinion of the Court of Appeals.

Some of the Northern papers are com enting upon the decision rendered in the upreme Court of Appeals of Virginia, de Supreme Court of Appears of Virginia, de-livered in February last by Judge Fauntle-roy, in which recognition is virtually given to the graded valuation of wives.

The case arose in Roanoke city, In April, 1888, James S. Simmons and William F. Winch were the owners and operators of a rock quarry in Roanoke, which had been worked and owned by William Weich for worked and owned by William Weich for some six years years previous to his selling it to Simmons and Winch, some ten months previous to the 5th day of April, 1888, on which day a blast was fired at the said quarry, which threw a fragment of stone weighing some twenty-live nounds into the yard of a Mr. Obermeyer, who lived between weighing some twenty-five pounds into the yard of a Mr. Obermeyer, who lived between 500 and 600 feet from the quarry, which struck and killed Mrs. Rosa McConnell, the wife of James A. McConnell, the appellee. McConnell, qualified as administrator of his wife, and instituted suit against Simmons and Winch for $10,000 damages. The jury found a verdict for the plaintiff for $0,000 damages. In the trial evidence tending to show that Mrs. McConnell had been a very superior wife was offered, to which the defendants objected. In his opinion, Judge Fauntieroy says:

If the character and conduct of the wife be such that her death will cause but little "sorrow, suffering, and montal anguish" to the nusband, then the fair and just proportion of the damages to be awarded by the jury will be measured accordingly; if, on the contrary, the wife be loving, lender, and dutiful to her husband—thrufy, industrious, economical, and prodent—as the evidence in this case proved Mrs. McConnell to be—then "her price is far above rubies," and the loss of such an welfe, of such an helpmeet, of such influence, of such a blessed and potent ministry and companionship is a proper element of damages to be considered by the jury in fixing the solution to be awarded to the husband for tearing her from this heart and home! Even in those states where the jury is fixed down to consider and allow only pecuniary damages such evidence has been adjudged to be proper.
